HONG ONG, OCTOBER 22ND, 1873.

Ir is satisfactory that the Government, have offered a reward for the discovery of the persons who have been instrumental in the recent cutting of the China Submarine telegraph. That it has been cut, there is, as recently mentioned, no possible doubt, and there seems to be little more room to question that it has been cut wilfully. At first, from the experience which has been obtained in connec- bard labour. tion with the Shanghai cable, the natural conclusion would seem to be that the perpetrators of the act were Chinese; but we understand Macao. that there are some grounds-mainly the heaviness of the cable—to justify the suspicion that it was done by these on board a foreign vessel. In one point of view, this is were cut by Europeans, there-is of course far less chance of this being repeated than would he the case had it been done by Chinese, as though the cutting in such case would have . . been quite unjustifiable, it would not have been prodesigned, as there would be every reason to conclude to be the case were in

It has happened before now that the master of a ship finding his anchor entangled with a telegraphic cable, has cut it in order to get clear-an action which can scarcely of all the defendants. The first defendant was be justified under any conceivable circummight be the case, though it is an extremely improbable contingency; and clearly to property as must result from cutting a fore, that the efforts which the Government. are making to discover the perpetrator of the net will be successful.

that there do not appear to be grounds for formation that the cable had been cut, that we were to have a repetition here of such difficulties as have been experienced with the apprehended the second and third defendants. Shanghai line, which there would be reason to apprehend had it appeared, that the line had been cut by Chinese. There seems little Row, and after searching some bouses, the room to doubt that the Shanghai cable was for the most part designedly out, and it is probable that it was done with at least the tacit consent of the local officials, if indeed it may not have been done at their instance, -with a view-of-ascortating how far it would be in their power to stop telegraphic comuninication should they desire at any time to do so. The unsatisfactorily explained interception of the telegram sent by Her Ma hesty's Charge d'Affaires from Peking at the time of the Tientsin Massacre, forms a good indication of the lengths to which, the Chinese are prepared to go in such matters; and it is quite in accordance with what we know of their ways to conceive that they will be very anxious to ascertain their powers of intercepting information should they desire at some future time to do so. The appearance of the cable having been stolen counts really for very little, as if such a design were being carried out, it would be easy to give this colouring to the matter, so as the better to hide the truth.

The necessity of extreme precaution in regard to the shore ends of cables in China, is now so well established that no doubt the attention of scientific men will be directed the matter, and some means found to prevent Possibly the plan of having more than one cable in shallow water, lending to the main cable, might be availed of. Although it would be expensive, it would probably be due, but disputed the sum claimed, and the which my important duties were performed desputch to which I may now refer, because cheaper in the long run than running any case was adjourned, as neither party was ready have passed from their political state of exist. is before your lordships—a despatch written by risk of interruption, and, if feasible, would apparently be a considerable safeguard against intentional interruption of communication, and a perfect one against accidental interruption by damage to the shore ends.

MARRYING THE WRONG MAN OUT Memphis Appeal. Recently Mr. J. B. Clark, of Tipton county came to this city and engaged rooms at the Central Hotel for himself and wife. Late in the afternoon he arrived there with a beautiful young lady from Tipton county, who is visiting her brother in law in this city. Mr. Hastings, who is the polite proprietor of the Central asked Mr. Clark it it was his wife, and the latter showed him his licence to marry, stating that he wanted the naptial ceremony to take as serious as a stone fence. But he did not marry the couple, because the young lady wanted him to retain the marriage license as soon as the ceremony was performed. She did not want the marriage made public, but wished to concent it. Mr. Clark, with heroic energy then repaired to Justice Hall, who complies with the wish of the lady and married them The couple then went back to the hotel and the licence was left in charge of the bandsome young clark, who comes on watch o'clock in the morning. The young bridegroom drove his wife to her brother-in-law's residence in this city; and leaving her there, returned to the hotel, where he slept by himself during the night. ENGLISH AND CHINESE DICTIONARY PUNTI AND MANDARIN PRONUNCIATION. An Anglo-Chinese Dictionary, published at the Daily Press Office, Hongkong.

MOR comprehensiveness and practical service this Work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese have of late years been compelled to coin to express the numerous objects in machinery, photography, telegraphy, and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are bere given in extense. Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises for students of a most instructive nature Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are given, the accents being carefully marked on the best principle hitherto attained. The typography displays the success of an attempt to make the Chinese and English type correspond in the size of body, thereby effecting a vast economy of space, achieving a clearness not previously attained, and dispensing, with those vast margins and vacant spaces which have beretofore characterized Chinese publications. To illustrate the vast scope of the work, the following facts are submitted for consideration. Taking Cargo and Passengers at through rates for Chalmers' Vocabularly contains about 16,000 THE UNDERSIGNED begs to inform the Chinese characters, and Medhurst's English and Chinese Dictionary about 100,000, whilst FIHE Company's Steamship

THE LEGEND OF ITYS.
(A Classickall Balladde.)
There was a family in Greece. One might describe as serious;
be head, who caused much mischief, was Denominated Tereus.
n military matters he Turned out a perfect lion,
But spooned, I'm grieved to montion, both The daughters of Pandion:
Fwas quite impossible for each That he could really feel a Procee affection. (They were named Proceed and Philomela.)
He'd very taking ways, just like
Some gallivanting cockney; to soon be'd woo'd and won and wed
Pandion's daughter Procue.
But/ere the honeymoon had waned
This military mister legan to tire of Mrs. T.,
hen Proone had a baby, as For married folks quite right is:

Second-class passengers generally escape this annoyance, as their carriages are always tolerably full .- From the "Gentleman's Ma. gazine" for September.

OCEAN DEPTHS. The depths of the Pacific have as yet been very imperfectly explored; but soundings in the Atlantic have been so multiplied as to enable the celebrated hydrographer Maury to pared to accept risks against Fire, subject to a draw, a map which gives us at least a good general idea of the vales and mountainchains, the shouls andabysses, of you great sea bed. Between Sierra Leone and Cape San Roque the valley of the Atlantic deepens in mid-ocean to 21,450 feet, gradually shelving up towards both continents. Proceeding northwards, the profound submarine value divides in the latitude of the West Indies into two arms, one of which runs paralle pany at current rates, subject to a discount of with the African and European coasts, whilst | 20 per cent. the other advances towards the great Bank of Newfoundland. To the south of this vast submarine plateau the precipice is uncommonly steep, so that at the distance of a few lengues the sea deepens to 18,000 feet What a spectacle would these prodigious mountain-walls afford, if we could wander about in the depths of the sea as easily as in some Alpino valley, and if our eye could pierco with the same facility the translucid waters; as it does the transparent regions of the atmospheric ocean! The deepest depres-

OCDAN SPRINGS. It is a curious fact, that in many parts of the occan, fresh-water springs burst from the bottom of the sea. Thus, in the Gulf of Spezzia and in the port of Syracuse, large jets of fresh water mingle with the brine; and Humboldt mentions a still more renarkable submarine fountain on the southern coast of Cuba, in the Gulf of Xagua, a couple of sea miles from the shore, which gushes through the salt water with such vehemence that boats approaching the spot are obliged to use great caution.
